1.1. Date of report

March 26, 2006

1.2. Nature of Business and Overall Performance

Rocher Deboule Minerals Corporation (the “Company”), incorporated under The Company Act (British Columbia) on July 8, 1987 as “Navarre Resources Corporation” and is a reporting issuer in British Columbia and Alberta, Canada. On June 4, 1998, the Company change its name to Ameridex Minerals Corp. The Company’s shares were traded on the Canadian Venture Exchange (now the TSX Venture Exchange) under the symbol “AMD” and in 2002 the shares of the company were halted for the failure to file financial information.

On September 13, 2006 the Company again changed its name to Rocher Deboule Minerals Corporation to reflect the property which it intends to explore. Currently, the Company’s filings are up to date and as of October 2, 2006, the Company’s shares have been trading on the NEX Board under the symbol “RD.H”.

Rocher Deboule Minerals Corporation is a junior exploration company which is engaged in the exploration and development of mineral properties. Exploration and development requires significant amounts of capital and even if the funds were available, the outcome is dependent on finding sufficient quantities and grades of minerals, permitting the project, dealings with various stakeholder groups, constructing the processing and ancillary facilities and starting commercial production. This process takes time, and many factors including commodity prices, political and economic conditions may change, affecting the viability of the project.

The Company’s head office is located in White Rock, British Columbia and currently holds a 100% interest in the following exploration property:

Rocher Deboule Property, Omineca Mining Division, Hazelton, B.C.

During the 2001 fiscal year the Company purchased four staked claims consisting of 53 units centred around the main underground workings at the headwaters of Juniper Creek, nine kilometres south of Hazelton, B.C., in the Omenica mining division.

History of the property

The property consists of 6,665 acres covering the Rocher Deboule mine 1915-54, the Victoria mine 1926– 40 the Highland boy 1917 and Cap mines 1917. The majority of the base and precious metals recovered from these mines were from seven veins which run East – West in the Western part of the identified Bulkley Intrusion. It is hypothesized in the geological report, February 2006 that these veins maybe part of a larger hydrothermal structure. If this were the case, the main structure would most likely located in the middle of the claim block. Work carried out by the Geological Survey Branch for the Ministry of Energy (GSBME) and Mines seems to support this hypothesis. Airborne magnetic surveys conducted in 1967-1969 identified a large magnetic high anomaly, located in the central part of the claims which is a good indicator for a large magnetic body. Stream settlement sampling around the area was also conducted. Sample #93M831897 conducted by the GSBME returned a in the ninety-five percentile for Au, La, Fe and Cu. The sample also yielded high readings for Co, U and REE were obtained. These readings are usually associated with Iron Oxide Copper Gold (IOCG) anomalies and targets.

The Geological Report and further information can be obtained at the company’s website www.rdminerals.ca.

Update on the Rocher Deboule Property

Subsequent to the period ended January 31, 2007 the company acquired 100% interest for claims covering 12,263 hectares in and around the Rocher Deboule property for the consideration of $55,000 cash and 90,000 common shares. The company plans to conduct geophysical surveys on the property in the summer of this year. Depending on the results of the surveys, the company is planning to conduct a drill program.
